BY THE SEA. BY HENRISTTA. Darling are you ever dreaming Of the grotto by the sea? When the stars are nightly gleaming, Do you think of that and em? Dreaming thoughts of me In my grotto by the sea, Asking love for me, You and me by the sea.

Shall I tell you what I'm doing In this grotto by the sea? I am idly dreaming, wooing, Back to me sweet thoughts of thee. Back to me sweet thoughts of Of the love that's by the sea

For the love of thee and me, You and me by the see. Are you ever dreaming Of the past beside the sea, Where the warm bright sun is gleaming On the sand baside the ses ?

Of the grotto by the sea, Of the love of thee and me, You and me, by the sea. For the past I'm ever sighing In my grotto by the sea,

For my heart is slowly dying For the love of thee and me. Of the past beside the sea, And the love of you and me, Come to me beside the sea, Come to me by the ses. Nassville, June 1, 1885.

A dispatch from Washington, dated the 8th, says:

The Mississippi and Georgia delega-tions called on the President to-day, on the subject of reconstruction. Ex-Congressman Joshus Hill headed the delegation from the latter State. It is well understood that the President will pursue the line of policy already adopted in the case of North Carolina, by the appointment of Provisional Governors. The whole question, therefore, is as to who shall be selected from present applicants.

The remaining members of the Alabama delegation now here, are confident that Judge Parsons, of Talladega, will be appointed Provisional Gov ernor for that State. - Wash. Cor.
